

Marvin Milanzi

Front End Developer

Profile

Let me tell you a bit about myself I am Web Developer with almost 2 years of working experience. I personally believe code should be used to give value to people by doing so we can improve our communities for the better. Moreover, it's my everyday mission to better my programming skills which will allow me to build more reliable technologies and also, I wish to explore more in the working environment as a developer. Any response will be a way forward.
